HAVE A HAPPY DAY AT HULIHE'E

KAILUA-KONA—There's so much to make you smile at Day at Hulihe'e—the annual spring fundraiser returns to Hulihe'e Palace 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday, March 28.

Palace caretakers the Daughters of Hawai'i and the Calabash Cousins have scheduled a full lineup of fun: arts and crafts vendors, ono local food, a tempting bake sale featuring Aunty Nona's popular peach cake, the ever-popular Tutu's Attic elephant sale, a chance to win a quilt and non-stop entertainment.

The seaside event will fill the palace grounds and remembers Hawai'i's Citizen Prince who was born in March, Jonah Kuhio Kalaniana'ole (1871-1922.) Interested vendors should contact Anita Okimoto at the palace office, 329-9555.

Hulihe'e Palace has been closed for repairs since December 10 after the historic landmark suffered $1.5 million in damages from the October 2006 earthquake. It is expected to be closed until next spring. A Hulihe'e Restoration Fund has been set up and tax-deductible donations are appreciated. Mail donations to Hulihe'e Palace, 75-5718 Ali'i Drive, Kailua-Kona, HI 96740. Find out more about the earthquake damage at www.daughtersofhawaii.org.

The Daughters of Hawai'i was founded in 1903 and opens membership to any woman who is directly descended from a person who lived in Hawai'i prior to 1880. Helping the Daughters in its efforts since 1986 are the Calabash Cousins; membership is available to all.
